WARNER GEAR-VELVET DRIVE TRANSMISSION PARTS, SERVICE and WARRANTY

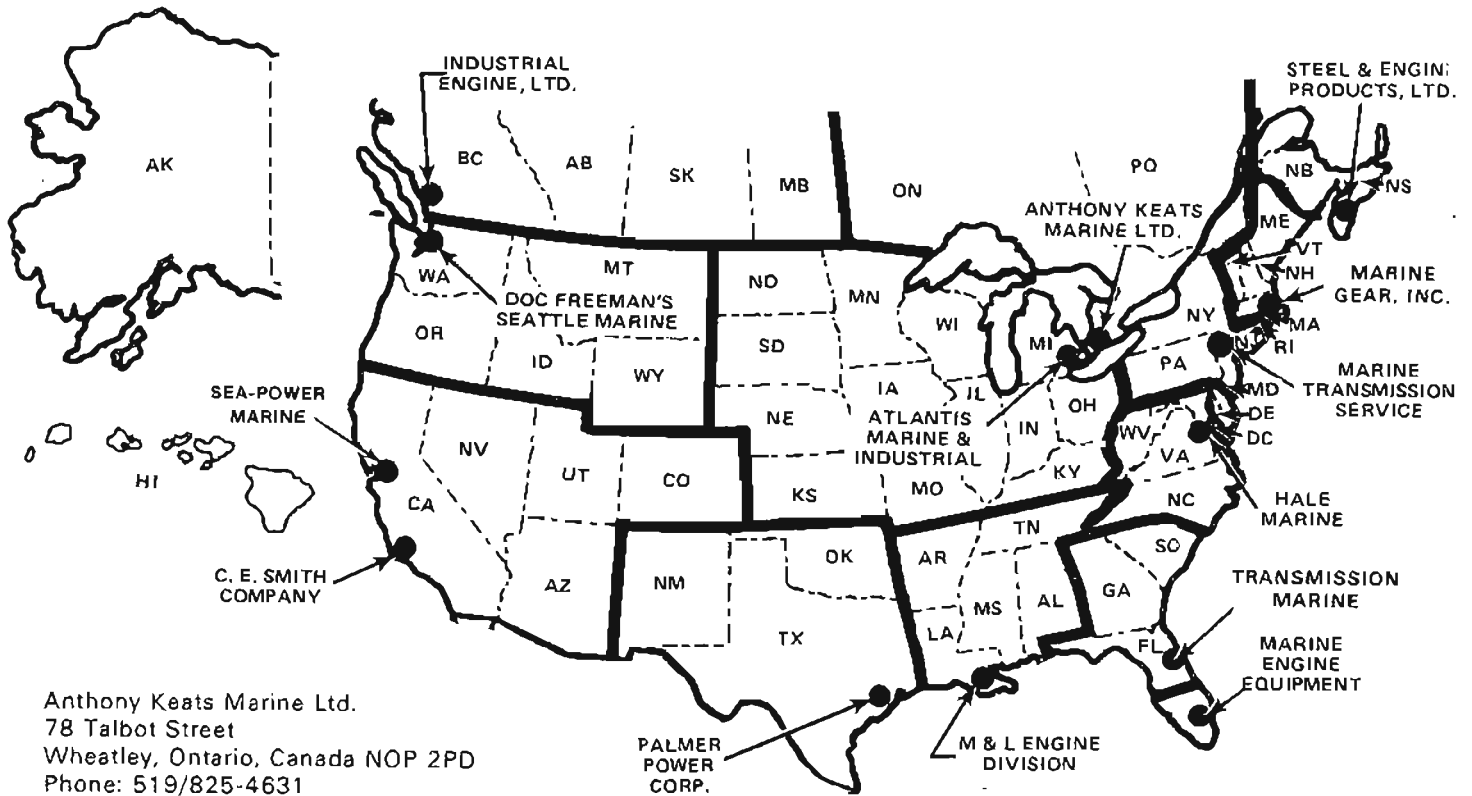

Warner Gear has a marine distribution program to provide service for its marine customers. MerCruiser dealers, who may have interest in becoming Warner Gear dealers for transmission sales, service and direct processing of warranty, should contact the Warner distributor in their area (listed, over) for more details on obtaining parts and/or service.

If you do not wish to become a Velvet Drive dealer, Warner Gear appointed distributors and their approved dealers may perform warranty repairs for Velvet Drive transmissions installed on MerCruiser engines and they will submit claims directly to Warner Gear. You must deliver the transmission to the distributor/dealer, or ship it freight prepaid. It will be repaired at no charge if the failure is caused by Warner Gear defects. You may pick it up or have it returned freight collect. Submit a warranty claim to Mercury Marine for your labor to remove and replace the transmission. Normal service is also available through Warner's Distributor/Dealer organization. Contact your area Warner Gear Distributor or your Mercury Marine Regional Service Center for warranty/servicereferral.

In addition to the preceding, Mercury Marine Regional Distribution Centers will maintain a quantity of transmissions in their inventory for warranty replacement. Should a dealer have a warranty failure which he cannot have serviced expeditiously, he may contact the Regional Service Center personnel for authorization to receive a replacement transmission.

The replacement of complete assemblies, including transmissions, is not covered under warranty unless they are 75% or more damaged. Velvet Drive transmissions in need of warranty service should be handled through the procedure explained above.
